

The April Meeting

The next meeting will be held at 7:00 PM, Monday, April 13th, at Consolidated Lumber and Millwork in Merriam, KS. Please park at the front or side of the building, outside the gates, because the gates will be locked later.

The April meeting will feature KC Woodturner Chuck Carnahan, who will demonstrate how to use crushed semi-precious stone inlay to highlight woodturnings. Chuck has refined his technique over the years and has shared it with many KC Woodturner members who now use this technique on their projects.

Selection of the Kansas City Woodturners entries for the 12th Annual AAW Symposium and National Exhibition of AAW Chapters will be at the April meeting. Any KC Woodturner interested in participating should bring one or two pieces to the next meeting. Two entries will be selected by an impartial party who will not be a KC Woodturner member. We will ship our two entries to arrive in Akron, Ohio, by May 16th.

This is a reminder to all members who are participating in the Crown Center Greater Kansas City Treasures in Wood to check in your items at Crown Center on Monday, April 6th, between noon and 8:00 p.m. I have listed key dates and some other information at the end of this newsletter.

Refreshments for the April meeting will be provided by Tom Mouser and Cris Payne. Refreshments consist of three 2-liter bottles of soda pop, 40 cups, a bag of ice and four dozen cookies. Setup and cleanup volunteers are Steve Sandelich, Pete Stiglich and John Shackelford.

Last Meeting

The March meeting featured hollow turning tools and techniques by some of the Kansas City Woodturners. Members brought a number of different varieties of lathe tools used in hollow turnings, such as the Viking Tool, the Mighty Midget Tool, the One-Way Ring Tool, the Stewart System Tools and the David Ellsworth Tools. We will also had a block of wood mounted on our lathe for tool test-runs.

Show and Tell

We had a very good Show and Tell turnout at this meeting. It's clear that many member's woodturning techniques have improved greatly since they joined the KC Woodturners. Keep up the good work!

John Shackelford brought two new pieces to show off. Both were made from local woods. The first was a beautiful "John Jordan" style cedar vase that featured turquoise inlay. The second was very nice a spalted maple open-top tall vase

John Larson displayed a perfect-looking "barley twist" spiral cherry-wood post that he made with his new Legacy Ornamental Milling Machine. This machine uses a variable-speed router and took two passes to cut the spiral. The post was 3 feet long by 4 inches diameter.

Anthony Harris brought a good-looking varra wood bowl that was shaped like a flying saucer.

Dan Moreno showed off two new pieces. The first was a very nice small chakte burl wood bowl with a natural edge. The second was a well-designed tall mahogany vase with Brazilian ironwood base and top.

Chuck Carnahan displayed a good-looking small bowl made from "cat's eye" burl white oak which featured white stone inlay. Chuck also brought stylized bridge model he constructed for "Dream Works" using jarrah burl and Honduras rosewood.

Chris Kunzle brought a number of recent projects. Chris showed off a very nice small open-top hackberry bowl, a bowl made from unidentified wood, a small maple hollow turning with an extremely small hole in the top (and a secret big opening in the bottom) and , lastly, a very well made grasstree root bowl that he sealed and finished using superglue. Good technique, Chris.

Jim Lambie showed off a good-looking large open bowl made from a local coffeebean tree stump. This bowl featured turquoise inlay.

Dan Bryan displayed a very nicely-shaped small cottonwood bowl with turquoise rim inlay. Dan also brought two sizes of "cowboy hat" turnings that he turned "live" on his Internet site.

Boyko Varney brought two great-looking vera wood bowls. One bowl had a central ring made from many different wood species. The other bowl used metal chips and lots of stone for highlights. Varney also made an exotic-wood business card holder for use at the Crown Center show.

Kevin Neelley brought a newly-completed segmented bowl made from local walnut. Kevin constructed the decorative central ring using dowels of different diameter and wood species.

Don Gruis showed off a very nice segmented compound-mitered open bowl made from maple and walnut. Don had a particularly nice finish on this bowl, using Minwax polyurethane finish.

John Sleezer demonstrated an ingenious self-winding top that was featured in a recent woodworking magazine. John made several of these tops for Christmas presents and used maple, walnut and padauk woods.
