Sign up for Learn-to-Turn weekends

The following is how the club will handle applications to the hands-on portion of these weekends. The event will be announced during a Monday Night meeting. The announcement will open a first-come first-served period for the membership to claim a spot. The exclusive window for club members will continue until the following month's newsletter is published. After the newsletter is published, applications will be accepted, first-come first-served, from anyone, and that includes extra-terrestrials except of course those from Tau Ceti. Members may continue to apply for spots during this period, but be warned that some of these events are attracting the attention of a much larger audience than just our club and space is limited. Unless it becomes a problem, the Saturday, demonstration will be open to all comers, and the only time sensitive aspect is a two-day deadline to have a lunch delivered.

Non-profit 501(c)3 status

The club is in the last stages of completing our application. We will likely submit the application in a month. The non-profit status has multiple benefits for our club, but our primary motivation is to enable the building owner to write off the considerable value of our space as a donation on his taxes. To facilitate our application, the board is proposing some minor changes to our by-laws. You will find the proposed changes included in the newsletter. Please review them before Monday's meeting. There will be time for questions, but excepting those from Tau Ceti, it has to be more interesting to talk about turning then by-laws. Our application requires a fee of $150, and then $42 each year to renew it.

Club Challenge

Remember that the club challenge for this month is a goblet. We seek a goblet turned recently—don't dust something off that you have had on a shelf since high school. The only other rule is that they must be turned. You can cut and glue, paint, stain, dye, pierce, burn, carve or modify them in any way you see fit.

We will hold a second raffle for a single, significant prize for people who participate in the club challenge. Everyone who brings an entry to a club challenge will be awarded a single ticket to the second raffle. The entries will be judged by the membership and an additional five and three tickets will be awarded to the first and second place entries respectively.

The drill will go like this: People who bring goblets will present their work after show and tell. Each entry will be paired with a cup. A supply of small objects (beans or marbles or the like) will be provided. Members may cast their vote by placing a single ballot into the cup associated with an entry. Voting will be closed at the end of the break, the votes tallied, additional tickets awarded, and the club challenge raffle will take place after the regular raffle.

In the future, whenever possible, the topic for the club challenge will be the topic of the second Saturday meeting. People are responsible for bringing their own wood to these second Saturday sessions.

The challenge for the April meeting will be a plate or platter. The same rules apply: We are looking for recent work and they must be turned. You can cut, glue, paint, stain, dye, pierce, burn, carve or modify them in any way you see fit.

Learn to Turn Program in May Features

Mike Mahoney has been a professional wood turner since 1994. His bowls are featured in galleries across the United States. Mike's work is sought after by collectors all over the world. Mike is often requested to demonstrate and teach for wood turner clubs, craft schools and symposia. He has traveled around the world to discuss and demonstrate his craft. He is considered an authority in woodturning.

Artist Statement:

I am passionate about my craft and the American Craft movement. I am dedicated to producing quality craft and educating the public about woodturning. My wood comes from urban sources (tree trimmers and local cities). I produce all my work on the lathe without any embellishments after the fact, creating a very traditional feel with contemporary ideas. I want my work to be attractive as well as useful. For my work to be admired is one thing, but for my work to be used fulfills my purpose as a craftsman.

"Americans will habitually prefer the useful to the beautiful and they will require that the beautiful be useful."

Sharing knowledge with a story, experience or tip, we can all benefit in The Journey of woodturning

Dear KCWT:

With over 130 members, I can't believe we hardly ever have any input from you in the form of stories, tips or experiences.

I hope we don't have 130 sponges that constantly soak up information!! Remember, occasionally, we have to wring out the sponge (information) if you get my drift!!

Please forward any Journey articles to the editor by the 1st of the month. Your input is always welcome!

Marlene Joan Lambie, wife of Rodger Lambie and mother of Jim Lambie, passed away Thursday morning, February 22, 2007 at Lake Regional Health System in Osage Beach, MO.
