WOOD CHIPS

A local chapter of the American Association of Woodturners

Anthony Harris presented the July demonstration.

Anthony demonstrated making a box with a friction fit lid. The box is turned twice to reduce the risk of it warping and having the lid stick or not fit. Starting with the base first, the inside size and shape are determined and the tenon is cut with parallel sides. The bottom of the tenon is given an undercut. The lid is turned to fit next. With a bit of trial and error, the lid is cut to fit snugly over the tenon. With the two pieces fit together the finishing cuts are given to the outside of the box.

Let's Get Ready for the Auction

On November 6th the Kansas City Woodturners will hold their annual auction. This year the auction will be held as a joint operation with the Kansas City Woodworkers Guild. The auction is being moved to the first Saturday in November, with the auction starting at 10:00 am, with preview of the auction items starting an hour before the auction, at 9:00. Eddie Powers has agreed to be our auctioneer again this year.

The move of the auction this year to Saturday is hoping to accomplish several things. In the past, we were limited to 2 hours with auction held in evening. A Saturday auction will allow more time for the auction. Holding the auction with the Woodworker Guild will give the auction more items for the sale, and a larger group of interested bidders from both clubs. And with advertising we hope to bring in outside buyers too.

So we have a date, and an auctioneer, we also need your help. First look around the garage or shop for those dust covered treasures and tools. You know the ones, that great buy you got a the show and use a few times, then set aside, or realized that already had two of them. Bring them in and donate them to the auction. And make sure you mark the date on your calendar and come ready to buy someone else's treasures. Make sure you bring a couple of friends to the auction too. If you feel the urge Howard Russell, the auction chair, could use your help. If you would like to help the auction group contact Howard, (jayhawk65@everestkc.net) he and the committee would greatly appreciate your help.
